1.	All Nation Community Church (ANCC)	An after school tutorial program targeted for urban students in downtown Lynchburg, VA (many of which would be considered to be "at risk" by the school division). It is a partnership between Lynchburg City Schools (LCS), ANCC, and the Liberty University (LU) School of Education.	These "at risk" students receive free tutoring and resources provided by ANCC, LCS, and LU education candidates.	LU: Michelle Goodwin; ANCC: Emma Coleman; LCS: Pam Smith-Johnson or Dr. Merle Herndon.	Yes
2.	Bass Elementary School	This is a partnership between Bass and the LU School of Education to provide education candidates the opportunity to plan, implement, and reflect on the teaching of a language arts unit.	Bass Elementary is an urban school in the Lynchburg City division with much cultural diversity and a high number of students receiving free and reduced lunch services. This partnership helps LU candidates to be prepared for working with diverse P-12 students and, in turn, provides Bass faculty with additional opportunities to have candidates co-teach, assist, and tutor the elementary students.	LU: Annyce Maddox (SOE Faculty Member); Bass Elementary: Leverne Marshall (Principal).	Yes
3.	Linkhorne Elementary	This is an informal partnership between Linkhorne Elementary School and the LU School of Education. LU education candidates assist and co-teach in a Linkhorne classroom and must teach a lesson in a content area that integrates the fine arts.	Linkhorne Elementary School is located in the Lynchburg City division. Students that attend are diverse in both culture and SES status. Linkhorne faculty use the LU candidates to assist, tutor, and co-teach.	LU: Connie McDonald (SOE Faculty Member); Linkhorne: Donna Rinker (Administrative Assistant).	No
4.	Madison Heights Elementary	This is an informal partnership between Madison Heights Elementary School and the LU School of Education. LU education candidates assist and co-teach in a tutorial program and must teach a lesson in a content area that integrates the fine arts.	Madison Heights Elementary School is located in the Amherst County division. Students that attend are diverse in both culture and SES status. Madison Heights faculty use the LU candidates to assist, tutor, and co-teach.	LU: Kathy Pickard & Miranda Arnold; Amherst: Charlotte Gilbar (Principal).	Yes
5.	Liberty Christian Academy (LCA) - General Education	An academic coaching opportunity for LU candidates to come serve in classrooms at LCA.	The academic coaches (LU education candidates) are placed in LCA classrooms to assist the teacher, tutor in one-on-one situations, oversee small groups, and sometimes teach whole-group lessons.	LU: Michelle Goodwin (SOE Faculty Member); LCA: Tamia Colbert (LCA Vice Principal).	Yes
6.	Liberty Chrisitain Academy (LCA) - Special Education	LU sends practicum ISSE students to LCA to assist identified special needs students with math and reading help, tutoring assistance, curriculum modifications, one-on-one attention and other special needs support.	LCA has seen a rise in special needs students wanting to attend its schools. As a result, additional instructional support is necessary for these students to experience success in this learning environment.	LU – Dr. Deanna Keith; CVTC – Cindy Bargabos.	No

7.	Central Virginia Transition Council/ CEC	CEC supports logistical needs of Central Virginia Transition Council with annual conferences and area meetings focusing on improving transitional services.	Recent pressures form performance indicators highlight needs for improved transition services (especially in area of employment in post-secondary statuses).	LU – Randall Dunn; CVTC – Dottie Narodny.	No
8.	OCTP/ College for Living Plus	ISSE practicum students mentor and act as peers for post-secondary transition experiences in on-campus environments for post-secondary students served in Lynchburg area public schools. The experiences is set at Central Virginia Community College, where participants take courses in academics and life/ vocational/community skills subjects.	Local public schools' post-secondary transition students need mentors to act as peers in a least restrictive environment.	LU – Randall Dunn; Lynchburg City Schools – Dana Koenig.	No
9.	Liberty University Health Fair	The students are put into groups of three to four. The students choose a topic from a predetermined list that goes along with the health fair theme for that year. All groups prepare a 10 minute presentation on their topic. Each group wears the same outfit which relates to their topic. The students teach and present their topics to the K-6 students of the school.	The topics and information that the Liberty University students present are all in accordance with the Virginia Standards of Learning.	LU - Eric Brubaker; Big Island-Dr. Deborah Shelton.	No
10.	Mathematics Teacher-Amherst High School	We have been able to arrange for the LU students in the Secondary Mathematics Methods class to complete their practicum in the Mathematics classes at Amherst High School.
